As ordered by the Assistant Secretary, all the available papers relating to the preparation of a Stamp Manual are traced and put up. The these papers were not in one place and hence the delay in finding them. For the same reason the Stamp Com^rs reference no. 337 of 18.12.13 enquiring when the Manual would be ready, could not be attended to. Besides the Stamp Com^rs letter did not give sufficient clue to trace all the papers. Even now the papers relating to this Office no 7E 819 of 22.8.09, intimating to the Com^rs that the Manual is under compilation in this Office have not been found.

From the files now put up it will be seen that the Stamp Com was in the first instance asked to take up the compilation of the Stamp Manual that on his pleading shortage of hands in his office and while the matter was under correspondence permission was obtained by Messrs T Gopalakrishna Iyengar and K Subramanyam clerks of the S.R Section to compile the manual and that accordingly copies of Circulars and printed forms of the Stamp Dept were obtained from the Stamp Com

No further action seems to have been taken in the matter At any rate no other papers on the subject are traceable

It is now for consideration

(1) Whether in view of the fact that the Stamp Com has been Kept under the belief that a Manual would be compiled in this office and that copies of circulars so have been obtained from him the compilation should be done in this office

or

(2) whether the Commissioner should be asked to take up the work get it done in his office. The inability expressed by that Officer in his letter no 507 of 1.3.09 was based on the fact that there was only one clerk in this office and that he not compile the manual addition to his heavy office work. The strength of this Office has not been since increased and it possible that the same inability may be urged now unless an extra hand is sanctioned for some Resumed.

Further attempts were made to trace this office letter no Fl 819 dy 28.09 but were no success

Reference was also made to the Diary for 1908-9 with a view to see if any reply was sent by the Stamp Comr to this office letter no Fl 4199 / SR 138-096 dy 18.3.09, enquiring whether the services of a clerk on Rs 25/- pm for a period of 3 months would suffice for the work of compiling the Manual. There is no entry to show that a reply was received.

As orally instructed by the requesting the Com Deputy Asst Secy a draft expressing whether a reply to that communication was sent, and also, to forward a copy of the same put up.

Note continued as directed by the Asst Secy

According to the instructions issued in the ~~a Circular~~ of the Efficiency Audit Branch all Departments are required to have Manuals relating to the Rules of each and the Compilation of a Stamp Manual is therefore a necessity The attempt to have it done in the Secretariat some years ago has not proved a Success as will be seen from paragraphs 2 & 3 of these notes On the analogy of the Excise & Registration Manual which were compiled in the respective offices the Stamp Manual may be got prepared in the Stamp Com's office In addition to the Govt orders issued from time to time on Stamp matters, the latter office possesses all the Subsidiary rules and circulars issued by it for the guidance of Subordinate Officers For these reasons, the Com of Stamps may be informed that this office should undertake the work, and requested to State what assistance therefor he considers necessary, as he thinks a clerk on Rs 25/- for 3 months is inadequate
